

THE FUTURE OF AMERICAN JEWRY

WILL YOUR GRANDCHILD BE JEWISH ?
( REVISITED )

* Although there is no clear definition of 'Centrist Orthodox' or 'Hasidic - Yeshiva Orthodox', the main distinguishing factor relates to attitudes regarding formal secular studies, family size, and the type of day school children attend.

* The data pertaining to intermarriage rates for 'Centrist Orthodox' and 'Hasidic/Yeshiva Orthodox' extrapolated from study by Dr. Marvin Schick ( 2000 - see text of article )

** Based on study by Dr. Marvin Schick, January 2000 'A Census of Jewish Day Schools in The United States' ( published by the Avi Chai Foundation 2003-2005)

Graphic design by Rochel Guidry

Based on current intermarriage rates and the average number of children per family, the chances of young, contemporary Jews having Jewish grandchildren and great-grandchildren, with the exception of the Orthodox, are increasingly remote.

This chart is part of an extensive research article conducted by Antony Gordon and Richard M. Horowitz (2003-2005). The chart and the accompanying research will be released as part of a symposium on 'The Future of American Jewry' at Harvard University in February, 2006. Reproduction for any use whatsoever is strictly prohibited unless explicit written permission is given by Antony Gordon and Richard M. Horowitz. Please contact Antony Gordon at (323) 314-1898 or gordon18@aol.com